November 17, 2009, Laramie, WY – The Cavalryman Supper Club (the “Cav”) announced today that it has hired Timothy Weimer to lead its front of house and community relations programs. Weimer was formerly general manager and trainer at a number of fine dining, hotel and chain restaurants, including Treppeda’s Italian Restaurant in Niwot, Colorado, Adam’s Mark Hotel’s Supreme Court Café on the 16th Street Mall in Denver, and Concept Restaurants which operates numerous restaurants in the Front Range, including the Rialto Restaurant in Denver and the Table Mountain Inn in Golden. Immediately prior to joining the Cav, Weimer marketed and sold fine wines and olive oil through Vinifera Italian Imports in Denver.

“After a couple of false starts, we have found our front of house manager,” said John M. Pope, CEO of Blue Sky Restaurants, which manages the restaurant. “Tim’s combination of wine knowledge, fine dining service expertise, and restaurant management experience is a great fit for the Cav as we move to expand our operations.”

Weimer is currently focusing on improving the level of service at the restaurant while adjusting and expanding the Cav’s award-winning wine list and upgrading the facilities.

“I’m very excited about the opportunity to take the Cav to the next level,” said Weimer. “And I’m looking forward to seeing all of Laramie’s wine enthusiasts at the Cav soon.”

Weimer is a graduate of Pennsylvania State University. In addition to his extensive food service career, he has managed the world-known horse carriage museum based in Lancaster, Pennsylvania.
